

The Spanish Navy places its trust in Hafesa Group

- Signs a two-year contract for the supply of distilled naval diesel through its subsidiary Secicar.
- The contract is valued at 16 million euros.

Hafesa Group, the holding company dedicated to the marketing and distribution of petroleum products, has signed a two-year contract with the Spanish Navy for the supply of distilled naval diesel through Secicar, the company specialized in storage and distribution of hydrocarbons that has been part of the group since 2016. The contract is valued at 16 million euros and was awarded on March 9th. Secicar is a clear benchmark in the industry, thanks to their unique management model and vast experience they have maintained, even during the pandemic, the highest levels of service and commitment in all their logistics and storage activities, adapting and evolving to fulfill all their client's requirements.

This contract further reinforces the group's leadership position in the Mediterranean area, both for the storage and the distribution of hydrocarbons. Currently, Hafesa boasts 29 storage tanks, and a capacity of 398,000 cubic meters, which will increase substantially in the coming years. With their hydrocarbon trading operations, their storage and distribution activities and their expansion into new areas of activity such as solar energy and other renewable energies, Hafesa Group aims to become an energy operator with global presence.
