Madrid, 24 May 2023. Hafesa Oil, a division of the Hafesa Group, the holding company involved in the marketing, storage and distribution of petroleum products, is giving away a year of fuel to 15 members of its top-up programme. The promotion will run at all service stations in the Hafesa network from 1 June to 31 August this year.

During the promotional period, Hafesa Oil wants to recognise the loyalty of members of the programme, who will get a ticket for the draw every time they spend at least 40 euros on refuelling. Each station will give three prizes, making a total of 15.

Each prize will allow the winners to refuel for a whole year, worth 100 euros a month. The draw for the winners will take place in the third week of September, and the winners will be informed personally. Notice of the result will also be given on social media.

“At Hafesa Oil, we are especially concerned with our customers’ satisfaction and the quality of our products and services. We want to recognise the trust members of the top-up programme place in us. We are proud to be increasing our network of stations, but, above all, we are proud of our customers,” adds Javier Ramos, managing director of Hafesa Oil.

Hafesa Oil has five service stations that offer quality services and superior attention on the forecourt, hallmarks of its model. They are located in the area of influence of the Group's storage plants and constitute a strategic asset as they give visibility to the brand in the geographical areas where the Group has a logistic presence.

Whether they are individuals or self-employed professionals, all the network's customers are offered the top-up card which they can request free of charge at the service stations. It allows them to enjoy a direct discount on each refuelling, which means additional savings on their fuel costs.
